61 acres gives us plenty of options for all. that everyone has suggested. A community pool, playing fields for the kids, a library and a new park. There may even be parcels of land left overs!

Hi,

One suggestion I have for use of the some of the Malibu Community Lands is for bocce courts. If you read the article below from the L.A. Times you can see what it has done bringing together Pacific Palisades. 900 people are in the bocce leagues they run. It is an activity for all ages and there is little stress and strain on one's body in playing bocce. I have been playing bocce at the Bel Air Bay Club for about 7 years now and it is a great way to get outdoors and meet people.

What do you think?

Move over, pickleball: In this wealthy L.A. neighborhood, another game reigns supreme
